How to use this document

This document contains the approved content and order for Annie Yahaya's personal website. Build the experience as a persuasive scrolling homepage with a connected Complete Body of Work page. Preserve the wording, hierarchy, official program names and trademark symbols unless Annie approves a change.

The published reference shows the intended editorial direction. The website should feel human, intelligent and quietly bold. It should establish Annie as a creator and builder first, while making her personal coaching services easy to find and understand.

Primary communication objective

A visitor should understand within the opening screen that Annie is a creator and builder who develops responses to real human needs. The homepage should make it easy to engage Annie; the catalogue should reveal the full scale of her confirmed work across coaching, programs, tools, frameworks, communities, organisations and technology.

Visual direction

Use a monochrome editorial system with black, warm off-white and MWC green as the deliberate accent. Keep the composition asymmetrical, spacious and typographically strong. Use deep teal for lettering on green surfaces; avoid black or white body text on the MWC green. The green thread artwork is the visual device connecting the different expressions of Annie's work.

Approved colour palette

- MWC green · #6EC24C · Signature accent, selected large surfaces and the thread
- Deep teal · #004A52 · Text, icons and borders on MWC-green surfaces
- Soft green · #9BDC81 · Supporting accent only
- Ink · #0E0E0D · Primary typography and dark surfaces
- Warm paper · #F3F0E8 · Main page background
- Line grey · #C9C4BA · Rules and quiet structural details

Developer note Use the published site as the visual reference. This document governs the copy and hierarchy.*

Why I build

SECTION NUMBER

01

HEADLINE

Advice is everywhere.

Development needs design.

BODY COPY

A person can know what she should do and still struggle to do it. A leader can understand people and still fail them in the moment. A community can value growth and still lack a language for it.

I am drawn to that space - the distance between knowing and becoming.

THE WORLD WITHIN

A new way of seeing ourselves - because how we understand what is happening within us shapes how we speak, decide, lead, relate and create change.

When I encounter a human need, I begin asking what would genuinely help. The answer may become a question, a facilitated conversation, a card deck, a curriculum, a community, an organisation or an intelligent companion.

CLOSING LINE

I build the response the moment deserves.

Work with Annie

SECTION NUMBER

02

LEAD IN

Where Annie enters the work

HEADLINE

Bring Annie the situation that matters.

OPENING COPY

Annie begins by listening for what the moment requires. The response is built around the people who will live it.

Come with a decision, a leadership need or an idea that refuses to stay small. Annie brings the questions, architecture and human understanding that help it take its next form.

Private coaching

A decision. A relationship. A next chapter.

For Muslim women and leaders who want a thoughtful, faith-aligned conversation around the situation they are living. An engagement may be a focused private session or a continuing coaching relationship.

Organisations

When the people matter as much as the outcome.

For leaders, teams and institutions developing how people lead, relate, mentor, learn and contribute together. An engagement may be a keynote, facilitated experience, leadership program, mentoring initiative or coach education journey.

Build with Annie

Give the human need a form people can use.

For organisations and partners creating a program, curriculum, framework, community or FaithTech response around a real human need. An engagement may be a design partnership, curriculum architecture, content curation or strategic development engagement.

EVIDENCE IN REAL ROOMS

2,800+ · Coaches and practitioners developed

Through an academy and certification ecosystem Annie founded for Muslim women internationally.

350+ · People trained through Essence of Life™

A 297-card faith-conscious reflection system that turns image, questions and du'a into a way of seeing.

Higher Education Agency x VVA · Mentor for Malaysia™ in practice

Since 2014 · Organisational work through Vital Voices Asia

Leadership, coaching and capability experiences curated for each organisation's people and context.

Coaching with Annie

SECTION NUMBER

03

HEADLINE

Bring the situation you are living.

OPENING COPY

A decision you keep circling. A relationship that needs a different response. A responsibility that is changing you. A next chapter you cannot enter in the same way.

Annie offers private, faith-aligned coaching for Muslim women and leaders who want to move forward with dignity, humility and impact.

Executive coaching

For leaders whose decisions affect more than themselves.

Explore how you lead, communicate, respond, exercise authority and navigate consequential moments -while remaining aligned with the person and leader you want to become.

Life coaching

For women who know something in life needs to move.

Bring one real situation. Together, we understand what is happening, examine the choices before you and decide what you are ready to do next.

How faith enters the conversation

LEAD LINE

Faith belongs in the conversation.

Faith shapes the conversation from within.

It enters with relevance and care - sometimes through a question, a Seerah moment, remembrance of Allah or du'a. Your circumstances and readiness guide how that happens.

Coaching serves a different purpose from therapy, counselling, religious rulings and scholarly guidance. Annie helps you understand what is happening within you and respond with greater consciousness.

What a session feels like

You bring one real situation.

- Annie listens.
- We stay with what matters.
- The questions become more precise.
- Something begins to make sense.
- You choose one honest next step.

CALL TO ACTION

Begin a private conversation

NAME

Annie Yahaya.

PROFILE COPY

Annie is a Malaysian creator, builder, executive coach, life coach, educator, facilitator and curriculum designer. Creation is the thread that joins them all.

Her work is shaped by 21 years in corporate leadership and more than a decade as an entrepreneur. She has trained thousands of participants, developed hundreds of coaches and practitioners, and built learning experiences for individuals, organisations and communities internationally.

She listens for what is missing, asks what the moment is calling for, then turns the answer into something other people can use.

PULL QUOTE

"I am interested in growth that leaves a person with greater dignity, deeper humility and a contribution that reaches beyond herself."

The question I am taking into doctoral research

RESEARCH QUESTION

When a Muslim says, "I don't need coaching," what do they mean?

SUPPORTING COPY

My research explores what shapes Muslim adults' willingness to adopt coaching: trust, fit, expected effectiveness, willingness to invest and the other sources of support they already turn to.
